The next worksheet's identifier is on the sheet "Point". My code right now for copying is: Sheets("Point").Range("M2:M" & lastRow).Copy Sheets("RPT").Select Range("A2").Select Selection.PasteSpecial Paste:=xlPasteValues, Operation:=xlNone, SkipBlanks_:=False, Transpose:=False Here, it is just copying data from "M2:MlastRow" to "A2". But I want the data to paste in columns from A to H. A: You can use this code: Sheets("Point").Range("A2:H" & lastRow).Copy Sheets("RPT").Range("A2").PasteSpecial xlPasteValues Here, you copy only columns A to H from lastRow rows to "RPT" sheet. You can change pasteSpecial to pasteSpecialType as you wish. Frequency doubling technology perimetry in an infant with Joubert's syndrome. What's new:

II In Springwood 1964 Leslie completed a vehicle she had decided on for over 20 years - a Bierwagen Convertible. Leslie's conversion is based on a car she has owned since 1958 and been working on for many years, a Ford Prefect 6V which she has regularly re-trimmed and upgraded. The car was originally bought brand new from the Ford dealer in London by Les's mother at the time, just outside London on the M1, along with the Ford Granada with which it was equipped, this was simply the original choice of vehicle available. Little was done to the car at this stage except some occasional maintenance, so when the car was retired two years later, it was more of an inconvenience than anything to get rid of it. It was replaced by Les's mum's choice, a Peugeot 403, which she had already owned for 9 years in total. The car sat in her back garden in the outbuilding where it had been left. Four and a half years went by and the car was still there when mum died aged 79 in 1971 and the "daughter" in charge of the estate (mum was childless) had to get rid of it as she was not able to make it a priority. She had plans to resurrect the car which did remain undestroyed for 18 years, until in February 1978 Leslie's dad bought the car from the daughter for £300 (!!!) as he wanted a car for the family within easy commuting distance of his place in Cheltenham. It was still registered in the daughters name as she drove it to work in London and her husband also drove it, but the daughter kept the car for herself, but only made it to work in London where she lived. Leslie's dad bought the car on a time-expiry lease, as the car was not roadworthy due to a brake problem and the clutch was seized. Since the father had his own business and it was not a vehicle the exact make was not really important, and although this car had a reputation that the clutch and brakes were good for many many years, it was never replaced, so as far as Les (or the dad) was concerned, he was the owner of a marvellous Prefect with a bad name! He kept it for a few years, occasionally making modifications to it for a few of the many wives who
