URL2BMP is a powerful program that enables you to save pictures of any webpage as JPG, PNG, BMP, or TIFF files. "Hauling around the outdated versions of Flash Player is like driving a Porsche with a transmission that's stuck in neutral." - SF Tech Flash Player 10 was an incredible improvement to the Flash Player platform as it allows Flash content developers to be creative and innovative and a new Flash Player 10 API makes Flash creation even easier. Flash content developers now have access to a series of extensions that allow for advanced video and 3D content while simplified file access and file system functionality make it easier to drag and drop, access, and organize data. Even existing extensions and elements that are not being redesigned can now be updated for Flash Player 10. New features include access to the HTML5 FileSystem API and you can now use the FileReference and FileReferenceList classes to access all files and folders that your user has access to on their machine without needing to know what folder they're in. This is more powerful than the existing File object model and will only take applications up to a few lines of code to access all files. Media Components 10 offers easy access to audio, video, and even streaming content without having to know the URL of the content. This is achieved through the usage of URLLoader and HTMLMediaElement, both of which can be used by any Flash-enabled applications. Video Components 10 help developers build the most interactive Flash experiences available by offering a new dynamic object model that enables Flash developers to work with video and to construct live interactive Web applications. It's also easier to add an interactive menu to your Flash apps and applications with new interactive regions, and third-party developers can even use it to create other widgets such as navigation and status bars. Another big addition that Flash developers can now take advantage of is the ability to create and work with SWF file metadata. It also comes with the ability to automatically update embedded SWF files when the SWF file is modified outside of a browser. Adobe Flash 10 Adobe Flash 10 is the latest revision to Adobe's flagship multimedia development platform. It includes numerous new features and updates to existing ones such as performance and security, support for new programming models, and new APIs. HTML5 video Adobe's Flash Player 10 can now play back YouTube, Vimeo, and Vevo videos natively, so you can watch embedded Flash video on
