

The story is about two characters, Red and Blue, who are trying to go home. The goal is to find the light to make the path back to the light. To do this, you need to use your lights to shine on objects in the environment and have them react in special ways. Some of the react categories are: - Make the cubes in this world not react to Red or Blue's lights. - Stop Red or Blue from shining on the Enemies. - Make the Red or Blue light react with the red or blue light of the other player. - Stop the light from spreading to another colour of light. - Make the light shine on a static object. - Make the light disappear when it hits a wall. - Make the light stay on a static object. - Make the light spread to the other players. - Have Red shine on Blue and Blue shine on Red. - ... and many more. Gameplay Features: Features in Lanterns have been done to bring out an awesome experience. Here are some of them: - The story is playable in single player or in local coop. - Both players are controlled by keyboard. - The controls are centred around the keyboard. - Only keyboard controls. - The gameplay is based around communication. - No item pickup items. - Only One Level at a time. - Puzzles are mostly solving related to exploration. - There are no game items to collect. - Short levels. - Difficulty options have been adjusted to be easy, normal, hard and impossible. - Some levels have interactive elements. - Out of the blue or the start of a level there may be some spaces that are not available. - The light will shine in every direction. - Objects can shine the lights on the player. - ... and many more. System Requirements: An internet connection is required to play this game. Both players can download the game directly. Windows 10 / 8.1 / 8 / 7 / Vista / XP - RAM 1GB or more - Graphics card DirectX 8 - HDD size 20 GB free space - Sound card - Keyboard and Mouse Thank you for reading! I am now proud to announce my first game, Titanica. It is a free 2D top-down perspective action, time travel, role playing game. It is designed to be a minimalist

Zimatrix is a sandbox game designed to be immersive and you must have a lot of creativity. It is a game in which you can build anything your heart desires and if you encounter an obstacle or want to make the landscape look different from what was there before - you just can do it. There are three modes - Sandbox, Creator and Explorer. Each game of each mode is different - depending on your actions or decisions you make. In Creator mode you can make a world and any number of islands, create your own game types and insert your own content in the game. In Sandbox you can build anything you want but you cannot create new game types or place new content into the game. And in Explorer mode you can explore the creation sandbox you created or even create it yourself. Game modes: Sandbox: Creator: Explorer: Controls: KEYBOARD, WASD, ENTER To use the control's you have to press the keyboard's [WASD] keys, the left is the Map (W) and the right is the Camera (A) E = Economy S = Science C = Construction G = Graphs O = Optimization (sandbox mode only) TL;DR: ----- Sandbox: (Controls) - WASD: Move - PageUp/Down: Zoom out/in - Spacebar/Enter: Next/Previous - Left and right arrow: look straight or left/right - CTRL: Toggle Statistics - ESC: Quit - X: Tilt the Camera ----- Creator: - WASD: Move - PageUp/Down: Zoom out/in - Spacebar/Enter: Next/Previous - Left and right arrow: look straight or left/right - CTRL: Toggle Statistics - ESC: Quit - X: Copy drawing to clipboard - C: Clear grid - A: Clear rest of canvas - S: Change Fill Color - 0: Fill with black - 1: Fill with white --- Explorer: - WASD: Move - PageUp/Down: Zoom out/in - Spacebar/Enter: Next/Previous - Left and right arrow: look straight or left/right - CTRL: Toggle Statistics - ESC: Quit - X: Copy c9d1549cdd

: November 2014 Every month for the past three years, I have been observing the fine state of motion-picture locales (with the notable exception of California). This month we profile four places in the Golden State that have fostered, nurtured, or imbued a creative environment. Hillcrest (The Beverly Hills of Somerville, Mass.) It's no surprise the people who live in the two-square-mile area bounded by Somerville Avenue, Beverly Road, Park Drive, and N. Atlantic Avenue -- a strip that's home to more than 40 communities, according to the Somerville City website -- are lovely. They are scattered in an assorted collection of styles that include boutique, suburban middle-class, and Franklin Park-y. Their walkable shopping centers are lined with upscale fashion stores, chic designer boutiques, and union-organization joints. The Salem House State Bank, Union Oyster House, and Somerville Theater are gathering places frequented by families eager to catch the latest flicks. A not-so-secret tourist-enticing danger is that Hillcrest is known for being dark and parking-tight by the early showtime, but most locals know that means they get set-in-their-seats enrapturement before the film begins. Every month for the past three years, I have been observing the fine state of motion-picture locales (with the notable exception of California). This month we profile four places in the Golden State that have fostered, nurtured, or imbued a creative environment. Welcome to Hillcrest. Hillcrest was an integral part of the self-made film-business legend Harold Ramis. He bought his first home on Beverly Road in 1979. His first, basement-penthouse apartment was just six feet from the Movie Gallery. He lived there while writing movies for movies (like National Lampoon's Animal House), and when that movie career failed to kick off, he moved to that basement apartment and became the most famous Orthodox Jewish guy in America. He wrote the story and brought the most original comedic characters to the cinematic screen: bitter, bull-headed bikers; barber-surgery-obsessed subway conductor; a ragtag gang of kindly dads; and a shaggy dog in the shape of a woman, Negativland, whose first album was based on a C-Span video made about televangelist Johnny Cash. Approach Vindicta... About This Game: Approach Vindicta is a fully immersive VR shooting game set in a grim, real-world location: a prison. Just like in our own world, this prison isn't the most pleasant place to be incarcerated in. Escape from that "gravy train" isn't going to be easy as the guards on-duty aren't willing to just let you run off with them. You are going to have to get through the whole prison to get to a helicopter that's waiting on the outside, but the best way to do that is to not get shot. As you attempt to survive the 1st-person shooting, you'll also be unlocking the lives of your fellow inmates. Their stories and daily lives will form your guide to the way out of that "gravy train" and you'll have to decide between the various prisonships available to you, depending on the difficulty of the escape. Approach Vindicta is all about choice. The story you play through depends on the decisions you make. They're not just choices like "go left or right". This is a game that lets you "decide what happens next". Meet the cast: The inmates in Approach Vindicta are all housed in four different prisons around the globe. Each of these prisons have their own twist on the escape game genre that contributes to the variety of approaches that you can take to solving the game's puzzles. The four main prisons are: Gauntner Prison - An old asylum in northern America where the inmates are desperately trying to escape from the isolation and abuse. Can you break the prisoners free from their chains and help them reach the helicopter that's waiting on the roof of the main building? Rinder Spiega Prison - A Western-style prison in France with a unique "tug of war" system: a prisoner that gets in someone else's prison is worth a bonus reward! Can you work your way through the prison and reach the helicopter? Siberia Prison - Russia and this prison is the Arctic Circle, place the inmates live under extreme conditions of low temperatures and limited sunlight. Solve the puzzles to help the inmates escape from this prison and reach the helicopter. Stardust Prison - A western-style prison in the "all systems go
